The Editor's

Column

As the arrival of two contributions from Pine Cone readers, expressing excellent sentiments, co-incided with an attack of lethargy on our part, we are doubly pleased to bow out of this spot to make room for the following:

Let's Do Better

That more than one-third of registered voters in the state in the last general election, 1942, failed to cast a ballot is graphically shown in a cartoon sheet issued recently by the State Board of the League of Women Voters. Of 3,820,776 persons registered, more than 1,556,000 did not go to the polls. Of those who did, almost 30,000 failed to vote for any candidate for governor, and more than 200,000 additional did not vote either for or against Proposition 1, the labor issue measure. Further, 750,421 more persons quit marking their ballots before they got to Proposition 15, regarding the judicial council. The cartoon shows a line of tiny figures of men marching toward the polls, but more than a third fall before they get there, shown in a second line; in the next two lines are added casualties, until the line of those who really completed their ballots is but one-third of those who set out. The League urges: Let's do better this year. —L. L. T.

AWVS Again Responds

Residents of the peninsula received their new "A" gasoline ration books on time last month largely through the herculean efforts of a devoted group of women volunteer workers. The flood of mail, which arrived at O.P.A. headquarters in Monterey, came in bushel baskets and completely inundated regular workers.

The American Women's Voluntary Services was appealed to, and agreed to furnish teams of workers each day.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Mason Forbes, a corps of volunteers was recruited. Each day from 9 a. m. until late afternoon

Lt. Spencer Kern Receives Air Medal

15th Air Force In Italy:—2nd. Lieutenant Spencer R. Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Kern, Carmel, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial combat. He is pilot of a B-24 Liberator bomber and is flying with a veteran group that is taking an active part in the assault on Nazi industrial and communications targets in the Balkans, Northern Italy, and southern Germany.

Lt. Kern attended Sunset, Monterey High and Salinas Jr. College. He entered the armed forces in September, 1942, and received his flying training at the Pampas, Texas, Army Air Base.

Since arriving overseas last summer, Lt. Kern has flown more than 20 missions over enemy-occupied territory. Among them were attacks on the Ploesti Roumanian oilfields.

"The Marines Have Landed And Have The Situation Well In Hand," But What Of The U.S. Sailors Who Landed Them?

His job was to man, with two others, one of the small landing craft his transport carried, ferrying a tank and its crew of Marines from ship to shore. He began at dawn with the first wave, and he made the trip again and again, without rest and without sleep, except in snatches, for three days; for after the tanks were landed and had started on their dogged way up the hill into the artillery and mortar fire of the Japs, there were supplies to be landed on the beach, and then the grim business of carrying the wounded back to the ship.

This was Donald McPherson's part in the invasion of Guam. He was here last week on leave from the Navy, where he has the rating of Motor Machinist's Mate, visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McPherson.

To McPherson and his shipmates the battle of Guam represented largely grueling work. They had air protection for the beach, and the landing craft they manned, were not under fire. It was different at Vela la Vela, the first of the three stars this very young veteran of bitter engagements wears on his campaign ribbon; the second is for Bougainville.

At Vela la Vela, the jungle comes down to the water's edge, giving cover to the defenders. The Navy had to land the Marines here under Jap fire. McPherson's two buddies were killed as their landing craft touched shore. McPherson was letting down the apron, so the tank with its Marine crew inside could roll down onto the beach. One of his shipmates, hit, went overboard and McPherson couldn't find him; the other he pulled back on board. He got a doctor from shore, but it wasn't

HOW TO CONTROL TRAFFIC AT SUNSET SCHOOL

I am traffic captain of Sunset School. Instead of writing a story about my duties I am going to make an appeal.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, at the front entrance of the school there are 4 signs on either side of the safety zone lane. Please do not stop or park between the signs. At the upper and lower safety lanes there are stop signs. Please do not go through them. When the traffic boys blow their whistles and hold out their stop signs, please stop and let the children cross."

Headquarters For Anti 4th Termers Discussed Here

A plan was broached by Republicans and conservative Democrats at the Republican meeting at Sunset School last night to pool their interests in a secondary headquarters under the banner "Anti-Fourth Term Both Parties." The novel idea was still under discussion when The Pine Cone went to press.

Preceding the discussion, Andy Jacobsen addressed the meeting saying, "There is a dangerous communitistic threat to our democratic institutions if the voters do not go to the polls on election day, and vote the American way." He outlined plans for hooking up local activities with the state and national campaigns.

Ed Ewig was elected permanent chairman and Mrs. Ed Ewig was chosen to head the committee in charge of Republican Headquarters on Dolores Street opposite the Bank of Carmel. Mrs. Daisy Taylor will be on the job there to welcome visitors and supply them with information and reading matter.

Henry F. Jurs was chosen permanent vice president.

Carey McWilliams To Speak At Next Inter-Racial Meet

Carey McWilliams, author of the much-discussed "Factories in the Fields" which dealt with agriculture and the migrant worker in California, and "Brothers Under the Skin," a study of the various colored minority groups, will speak in Monterey on October 16, under the auspices of the Inter-Racial Committee of the Monterey Peninsula.

The meeting, to be held in the Council Chambers of Few Memorial Hall, will be of exceptional interest to the general public, for Mr. McWilliams, noted as a vigorous and outspoken personality, will discuss "The Japanese-American Challenge to Democracy." This says Mr. McWilliams, is a problem which will particularly affect communities in this section of California when the loyal Japanese-American citizens are returned to their homes.

The meeting will be directed by Thor Krogh, recently elected Chairman of the Inter-Racial Committee. Other officers, elected at the last meeting, who will preside are Vice Chairman Wes Gill and Dr. Wellington Smith, and Co-secretaries Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Jr., and Toni Jackson Ricketts. No admission will be charged. The meeting is open to the public and will begin promptly at 8 p. m.

Faculty Has Large Night Without A Moon At Corn Roast

Unhampered by their dear children, teachers of the High School and the Sunset School had a picnic Wednesday evening at the Indian Village on Seventeen Mile Drive. Husbands of the wife teachers, and wives of the husband teachers, and members of the board of trustees were there as chaperones. All the teachers had been praying for fair weather and a warm night. But there was a little hitch about the moon; it was late, in fact, it did not get there at all, and there was nothing that J. W. Getsinger could do about it, even

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN MEET

A meeting of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club will be held today, Oct. 6 at the Teen-Age Club house, Junipero and Sixth at 2:30 p. m. J. C. Davis, editor of the Register-Pajaronian, will be the speaker. His subject "News and Views of the Campaign." All interested are invited.

The Flags Are Out For The Chest Drive Starting On Monday

The Community and War Chest flags of the Allied Nations are flying in Carmel. The posters are in full display asking one and all to "give for a triple need."

Thanks to the hard work of Libbie Cass and Chairman James Doud, ably assisted by members of the Boy Scout Troups and some of the high school boys, this advance publicity covers Carmel as a prelude to the opening of the campaign, Monday, October 9.

One hundred workers will then start pushing door bells and pulling knockers in the house-to-house canvass that will bring in Carmel's contribution to the Peninsula-wide quota of $68,472 to cover the triple need of our own at home, our suffering allies, and our fighting forces.

Of the War Chest dollar, 37% goes to nineteen national war-related organizations for the United Nations and Refuge Relief, and 57% to our Fighting Forces, which includes the USO, War Prisoners Aid, and United Seamen's Service. The balance of 6% is retained as an emergency fund.

The Community Chest dollar is divided as follows: 50% for the Youth Agencies, 19% for child care, 14% for social service and emergency care, 10% for services to the armed forces and 7% for campaign and administrative expenses.

The Community Chest directors are glad to say that since it is no longer necessary to place the stress on relief and emergency care, the accent is on the Youth and Child Care agencies. Carmel is receiving a larger share of the Chest dollar and approximately one-third of it goes to the Teen Age Club, the Girl and Boy Scouts and the Carmel Well-Baby Clinic, according to Marian Todd, Secretary of the Community Chest.

This year the workers cannot drive but must walk, and chairman James Doud urges that everyone be ready to hear their story and give them a contribution.

Getsinger Attends State Conference Of Superintendents

J. W. Getsinger was one of the school superintendents attending the state conference called by Dr. Walter F. Dexter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, October 3 to 5. Among the speakers were Governor Earl Warren, Dr. Dexter, Dr. William R. Odell, Oakland Superintendent of Schools, and Hugh B. Masters, Director of the W. M. Kellogg Foundation.

The proposed statewide curriculum framework, proposals for compulsory military education, methods for adapting the armed services' use of audio and visual aids to public education, and reorganization of the state department of education were among the topics under discussion. Superintendent Getsinger was on the program on Wednesday evening as secretary of the section which undertook a redefinition of the program of adult and junior college education. Dr. John A. Sexson, Pasadena superintendent, was chairman of this section. Willard S. Ford, Glendale superintendent, and Walter L. Bachrodt, San Jose superintendent, were the speakers.

Bernadette Here For One Day Show Tuesday, October 10

One of the most impressive casts ever assembled for a motion picture will be seen in 20th Century-Fox's dramatization of Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette," which plays, for one day only, at the Carmel Theatre next Tuesday, October 10th.

Jennifer Jones appears in the title role of "Bernadette," and the cast features eighteen outstanding stage and screen stars, including Gladys Cooper, Charles Bickford, Vincent Price, Lee J. Cobb, William Eythe, Edith Barrett, Blanche Yurka, Pedro de Cordoba, and Jerome Cowan.

The film was directed by Henry King, and produced by William Perlberg.

An eighty-piece symphony orchestra and numerous choral groups figure in the background music of the outstanding production.

For this one day's showing of "The Song of Bernadette," the Carmel Theatre will run a continuous show. The doors will open at 2:00 o'clock, and the picture, which will be shown three times, will begin at 2:45, 5:35, and 8:25. The picture, which appears as a road showing, will play at advanced prices, with matinee prices until 5:30 o'clock. Seats are not reserved.

Sam Colburn For Tricycles, Curb Service On V-Day

Carmel artist Sam B. Colburn, who has been sequestering himself at Chappaqua, New York, has a few original thoughts on how Carmel might celebrate V-Day.

First, however, he mentions that he is moving to Galesburg, Illinois. "The leaves have begun to fall, and so have the trees, as a matter of fact (a hurricane fringed us). So, it is time for me to head West."

Noticed in The Pine Cone that come V-Day all the local bars are to be closed. If ever there was a day for 'Dancing in the Streets,' that day will be it. Is it quite fair that Carmel, having suffered little from the depredations of war, should not take the chance of some damage being done by a roistering populace in that glorious 24 hours soon to come?

"I think the best plan would be to forbid driving of any vehicle larger than a tricycle, and the establishment of outside bars (every 100 yards) on Ocean Ave., with First Aid Stations in the Library and the Post Office. Business men might take out a special V-Day insurance."

And he closes with: "Yours for an un-dry, V-Day."

Two Additions To Forest Hill Staff

The pupils of Forest Hill School are enjoying participating in musical programs prepared for them by Florence Fraser (Mrs. W. L. Mudge Jr. of Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.) whose daughter Verity is attending the school during Miss Fraser's stay in Carmel.

Miss Fraser, who has broadcast in New York, and given recitals in Philadelphia, is telling the children at Forest Hill stories of the great musicians and helping them dramatize portions of classical songs.

Another addition to the faculty is Mrs. W. H. Marsh, a graduate of the University of Chicago, who has attended Harvard and the University of Washington, and has traveled both abroad and in the United States. She has taught latin and English in another private school and been a member of the State Board of the Federation of Art Clubs in Indiana. At Forest Hill she will assist as house mother and instruct in art appreciation.

We're playing the sticks

BROKEN, battered palm trees... backdrop of battle... that is our stage.

We're proud to play these "sticks." We are the entertainers, of U.S.O. Camp Shows, on the "Foxhole Circuit," bringing the light of laughter to faces that were twisted and tortured a few days ago in the light of gunfire.

That is our job—to bring gaiety and laughter.

Won't you help us? Your contribution to your local Community War Fund keeps U.S.O. Camp Shows out here in the sticks. Some of it stays at home to care for the families of our fighting audience—if they need it—through your own local welfare agencies.

The need is great. You are called upon once a year.

Do You Droop, Stupe? Carmel Adult School For Physical And Mental Sag

BY JOHN H. WESTOVER, PRINCIPAL

Capt. Eric Berne's class in "Human Motivation in Peace and War" opened Tuesday evening at the Carmel Adult School with a large and enthusiastic enrollment. As in the case of Dr. E. O. Sisson's class in Philosophy, it taxes the capacity of room 11, and extra chairs had to be brought in. This course was originally planned as a series of six discussions on the subject of human motivation, but indications are that popular demand will cause the class to continue far beyond this number.

Mrs. Leota Tucker's class in Photography had a very interesting session Thursday evening. Students brought their cameras and took camera portraits under the new lighting system. Fathers, sons, daughters, husbands, wives, cats, dogs, etc., were subjects for the portraits, and everyone agreed it was "a lively and interesting evening." The class is planning a display of their work at a later date.

One of the most fascinating and busiest spots is Mr. Ernest Calley's class in Woodwork and Pottery. Each member of the class is working on their own pet project. These projects cover a variety of subjects, from sculpturing models of horses, to building kitchen cabinets. The members of this class are having a lot of fun and at the same time producing many articles of lasting beauty and value.

The class in Conversational French under the able leadership of Miss Elizabeth Crofton is making rapid progress and if the class keeps growing as we anticipate that it will, it may be necessary to divide this class into two sections in order to accommodate the large number of people interested in it.

Coach Rudy Rudd has the following message: "MEN OF CARMEL! Do you sag like a bag? Do you have a slouch, a pouch, and a grouch? Are you ashamed at the beach with a peach? Do you droop like a snoop? PILLS ARE TOO LATE! Your only hope is to work, jerk! Join the Physical Fitness class held every Monday and Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30, High School Gym." More will be heard from Coach Rudd later.

Join your friends at the Carmel Adult School. Enrollments are large but there is still room for more. You are cordially invited to come and visit any of the class sessions at any time.

Gladys K. Dixon Fined For Violation Of Building Code

Charged with violating the city building and zoning ordinance on three counts, Gladys K. Dixon appeared before Judge George Ross last week, plead guilty on all counts, and was fined $300, $200 of which was suspended, contingent upon her removing from a guest house she had built without a building permit, a kitchen unit, illegally installed. The house occupies a lot with another dwelling unit, and Carmel ordinance prohibits the presence of two housing units on one lot.

The complaint was filed against Mrs. Dixon by City Attorney Peter Ferrante on instruction of the city council. Ferrante has indicated that the Dixon case is the beginning of a drive on the part of the city to tighten up enforcement of the zoning ordinance and the building code.

Visiting Clergy On Convocation Program At All Saints' Church

The Convocation of Monterey will hold its Fall meeting at All Saints' Church Tuesday, Oct. 10, opening with a service of the Holy Communion at 10 a. m. The clergy and lay delegates of the parishes and missions in the Convocation will be in attendance, as well as the many interested in the life and thought of the Church.

On the program are The Rev. T. C. Harris, who will speak on his work among the American Indians, the Rev. Egbert Clark, Rector of St. Peter's Church, Redwood City, and until recently Dean of Men at the Santa Rosa Junior College, whose subject is, "The Church and You." Mrs. F. King Verleger will speak during the Woman's hour. Canon Craine of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, will present the moving picture, "We Too Receive." He is the chairman of the Diocesan Promotion department. The Right Rev. Walter H. Badderley, Anglican Bishop of Melanesia, will speak on his work.

The Rector of All Saints', Carmel, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe, is Dean of the Convocation; Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, chairman of the Woman's Auxiliary, the Convocation of Monterey.

COUSINS VISITING HERE

Miss Maurine Kennedy entertained her cousin Richard L. Fayn, and Mrs. Fayn, at her cottage on Crespi Ave., "Rumbleseat," last week end, when they stopped over in Carmel on their way back to their home in Seattle from a trip to Los Angeles. It is the first time the cousins, who grew up together in the same household, have seen each other since Miss Kennedy came here from Seattle in 1940, though the Fayns are not strangers to Carmel as they used to vacation here before gas rationing. Sunday night, Miss Kennedy and her house guests were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Francis E. Lloyd.

ANDREWS CASE DEVELOPMENTS

Mrs. Francis Andrews, on trial for the murder of Jay Lovett, took the stand in her own behalf yesterday morning. Under the able guidance of her attorney, Leo Friedman, she traced the history of her association with Jay Lovett, which began when he was a child, building up the picture of a mother and son relationship that the defense contends existed between her and the dead youth. She denied having made the several earthy remarks about an attachment existing between Lovett and Mrs. Dorothy Linde, which members of the Lovett family, as prosecution witnesses, had testified to earlier this week.

Following the noon recess District Attorney Anthony Brazil gave her a grueling cross examination.

At the three-thirty recess yesterday afternoon, it appeared that Leo Friedman would rest his case before adjournment that evening, in which case the Judge would probably adjourn court until Monday to allow the attorneys time to prepare their arguments for the jury. Preceding her appearance on the stand, Friedman called Joe Silva, farmer-guitar player, who entertains at Robles Del Rio, who stated that he had seen Lovett and Mrs. Andrews in the bar the week previous to the death of the boy, but that there had been no "cuddling" as prosecution witness had stated. On cross examination by District Attorney Brazil, he was vague as to times and dates, coming out with the following classic, "I'm absolutely sure, I think."

if he is the principal.

The picnic was arranged as a get-together for the new teachers, with Mrs. Ann Uzzell heading the committee in charge, assisted by Miss Clarice Duygou and Mrs. Estelle Fontana, all of Sunset. No matter what they had done, no children were kept after school on Wednesday. The teachers piled in to their cars and started for the picnic grounds about four o'clock. Very few of the teachers took along papers to correct, and while the barbecue fires were being stoked, they played baseball and other games, forgetting about their home work.

Earnest Calley, who got his master's degree in Corn Roasting, had charge of this branch of the menu and with such success that he has been booked up solidly for the rest of the corn season. Everyone was on his own when it came to toasting the hot dogs, and it was free for all in the sandwich, salad, cake, and ant departments.

There was community singing and a program arranged by Alvin L. Learned, head of instrumental music in both High and Sunset schools, assisted by Mrs. Holland Roberts and Mrs. Frances Johnson, both of the High School.

On Thursday the teachers appeared to have a great deal of understanding for playful pupils. New teachers who were honored guests:

Mrs. Juliet Ruth, Mr. Howard Byrne, Miss Nina Cornwall, Miss Betty James, Mrs. Edith Karas, Mr. Alvin Learned, Miss Enid Lovett, Mr. J. R. McKillop, Mrs. Flora Roberts, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, and Mr. John Westover.—Sara Farrar.

Dr. Clark Turns Practice Over To Dr. James Moran

Dr. James Moran, New Orleans physician and surgeon, a veteran of three years service with the U. S. Navy, moved into Dr. J. Harvey Clark's office when the latter turned over his practice to him last week before leaving for Baltimore to engage in special work at Johns Hopkins.

Dr. Moran, who has bought the McKenzie house at Pebble Beach, where he is making his home with his mother, is a graduate of Tulane Medical school at New Orleans, served his internship and took post graduate training at the Charity hospital in the same city.

Prior to receiving his honorable discharge for injuries received during the battle of the Coral Sea, Dr. Morgan served on the Yorktown and two other Navy warships.

His mother, who was chief anaesthetist at the Tulane hospital for many years, will assist him in that capacity here.

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Monte, The Lion Hunter

Monte is my dog. He has black, brown, and white spots.

Once a man used my dog for a lion hunter. He would chase a lion up a tree, and then the hunter would come and shoot the lion.

But before long Monte got run over by my car. My father was going to shoot him but I said, "Wait until tomorrow." He said, "All right, but tomorrow I am going to shoot him."

Day by day went by. Monte was getting better. My father forgot him and then one day he came out with a rifle. He said, "Where is Monte?" I said, "He is better and I think he will live." Today he is alive! He is not like he used to be but he is alive.

—Russel Wolters, Sixth Grade.

Junior Red Cross Plans

My position is Student Body Chairman of the Junior Red Cross.

The following is a list of suggestions as to what we hope to do during my term of office:

1. Make scrapbooks for the sick children.
2. Mount crossword puzzles to send to wounded soldiers.
3. Collect toys for the orphans and refugees for Christmas.
4. Collect books and magazines to send to soldiers in hospitals and camps.

—Jackie Wheeler, Sixth Grade.

Our Subject is Prehistoric Man

In our Social Studies this year we are learning about Ancient History.

Our subject at present is Prehistoric Man. We note and discuss the resemblances and differences between his mode of living and ours. We study how the conditions of the earth affected his life, the advantages and disadvantages of certain methods.

We plan to treat ancient Egypt, Greece, and Rome in the same manner soon.

I enjoy it immensely and expect to maintain my interest throughout the year.

"Boys, I'll tell you what Free Enterprise really is!"

"It's a lot of little things—and some mighty big things, too.

"But in a nutshell, it's our right to live our own lives, run our own farms and our own businesses in our own way—without needless interference.

"It's our right to criticize the government, bawl out the umpire, belong to the Grange, or make a speech on the public square. It's our right to travel when and where we choose—to work or not, as we please.

"It offers opportunity to anyone who really wants it. It rewards thrift, hard work and ingenuity. It thrives on competition and raises our standard of living. It encourages invention, stimulates research and promotes progress.

"It offers us a chance to save and invest and build and grow.

"Under Free Enterprise men who have faith in an idea can take risks to develop it. Our railways started that way. So did the motor car industry—and oil and steel and aviation and scientific mechanized farming.

"Free Enterprise made small farms and factories into big ones—and then started more small ones. And now, fighting a desperate war in which production will turn the scale, America is out-producing every other country in the world; hands down—and is doing it faster and better.

"Yet in spite of all this, some folks would like to change our American way of doing things—and rebuild our whole country under a new and different system.

"If they had their way, Tom here, wouldn't own this store. He'd be regimented with a lot of other storekeepers and told how to run his business by some bureaucrat who probably never tended store in his life.

"Ed's farm would belong to the state, and Ed would be told how to run it and what to raise by someone he wouldn't even know.

"Jim would be working for a state-owned factory—with his job and wages frozen. And I don't know where we country doctors would be.

"We fellows aren't rich—and probably never will be. But we've got a lot of self-respect and religion and common sense. We own our own homes and farms, send our kids to college, have cars, radios, and a lot more of the luxuries of life than millions of people living under fancy political systems and 'planned economies' in other countries.

"Sure, we're willing to put up with a lot of irritating things right now—in order to win the war—but I don't believe we'll stand for being pushed around much after it's over.

"Frankly, I don't like the name Free Enterprise for the system under which this country has grown great. I'd rather call it American Enterprise, because it's the most American thing we have. It really is America. Let's keep it."

—BY OLIVER C. BASSETT

Turning to a subject other than the boys of Carmel High who "make up a great little football team" (Coach Rudy Rudd, September, 1944), I wish to call attention to a group of students who play quite a big part in school affairs.

THE GIRLS

No matter where you look on our big wide open corridors, you run into one of them, swinging along with head held high and mouth in a firm, confident line. We fellows laughingly called them "our girls," but that was before they somehow, we can't explain it yet, carried away the positions of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer of the senior class. Now they just call us.

Soon after school started they began that royal sport of archery and now are earnestly engrossed in it most of the day. A constant twang may be heard coming from the girl's field during any Gym period. This field is the one between the main part of the school and the football field. It slopes just comfortably enough on the north side to provide a backstop for stray arrows. The girls impress upon us, however, that after a few weeks of shooting, this is entirely unnecessary, and that they are willing to try, perhaps not an apple on the head, but easily a melon in the hand, if we would like to take them up on it.

We laugh lightly when such an offer is made, but always urgent business prevents our accepting.

Finally, finding a girl who possessed enough money to purchase an after-school coke, I took her downtown and as we sipped the cool liquid, (One coke, two straws, please!) I asked various questions concerning this new craze.

It seems that Miss Betty James, the gym teacher, has started a sort of contest in which all the girls draw numbers and are then placed on a scale according to what they draw. When this is down, each girl may challenge anyone above her, and if she wins, may trade places with her opponent. This had started a week or so ago and, as far as the girl at the end of the other straw knew, it would continue indefinitely.

They compete in couples, with each girl shooting 30 arrows, or 6 arrows five times. The targets are regulation size and height, with the scoring values as follows: gold, nine points; (also known as "Gosh! Bullseye!" to the eighth grade) red, seven; blue, five; black, three; and white, one. This is called the "Prince's Reckoning" scheme, and with thirty arrows it is possible to make 270 points. The one with the highest score at the end of the round is victor.

The poor girl I was with looked rather sad after all this explaining and murmured that she had only made 137 today, so in a moment of pity I dug up a nickel and and paid the bill.

X X X

Seeing that we are on the subject of the bow and arrow, I would like to say that Carmel offers an almost perfect environment for this sport in what is known as roving, or just going out for the day and shooting at stumps, trees and rocks. The only drawback is a low-lying bush which forms a slight obstacle. I remember when I used to try to go through it, but nowadays I just go around.

Open House Sunday At All Monterey Peninsula USO's

On Sunday, October 8, the USO Clubs of the Monterey Peninsula will hold open house, from three until five o'clock, so everyone can witness the achievements and activities made possible by the generous contributions of the American people.

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, national chairman of the USO Volunteers, will visit all three of the Peninsula USO Clubs. Mrs. Morrow's itinerary is as follows: three o'clock at the Del Monte Avenue USO, three-thirty at the Monterey Webster Street USO, and four-fifteen at the Carmel USO on Dolores Street.

All Community War Chest captains and their teams, who will be the workers in this year's War Chest drive, have been especially invited. USO is a principal participating agency in the Community Chest and War Chest drive.

Mrs. Hugh Dormody will be the chairman for the open house in Monterey, and Mrs. Willard McGraw will do the honors at the Carmel USO.

HARVEY GARDNER HOME

Naval Aviation Cadet Harvey Gardner, who has just been graduated from St. Mary's Pre-Flight School, arrived in Carmel September 27 and is at the home of his mother, Mrs. F. E. Dowgiallo. Cadet Gardner will return on Oct. 11 to St. Mary's where he will be detained until sent to a primary base. Children's Theatre Meets At High School, Sunset In Afternoons

The Children's Theatre Center, under the direction of Edith Stebbins, is offering classes in speech and acting to Carmel children this fall and winter. The classes, limited to twelve in number, meet on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at the High School from 4 to 5:30 o'clock, and Friday afternoon at Sunset from 4 to 5:30.

The work in these classes is designed to fulfill two basic needs; to develop good speaking voices and the ability to read and speak aloud before others with ease and clarity, and to initiate through acting techniques a sensitive awareness of human behavior in all of its many ramifications and the ability truthfully to portray that behavior.

The Thirty Who Parked Too Long In The Green Zone

Thirty people climbed the stairs in Las Tiendas Building to City Judge George Ross' office last week, carrying citations, and they weren't with oak leaf cluster.

The city police are putting on a drive to enforce the 20 minute parking limitation in the green zones. Though thirty back-sliders have been bagged to date, hunting is reported still good. Maximum penalty for violation is $50 fine or five days in jail; minimum fine, generally assessed for ignorance, is $1.00; but the plea of ignorance will be hard to explain after publication of this announcement of rigid enforcement made by Judge Ross to The Pine Cone yesterday.

Flying Cross For Lt. Shannon McCrary

The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to Lieut. (jg) Shannon W. McCrary, son of Capt. F. R. McCrary, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Naval Air Station at Monterey, who with Mrs. McCrary makes his home here on Scenic Drive.

Lieut. McCrary, who was home on leave last month, received the award for his bombing of a Japanese oiler in the Saipan area last June. He also holds the Air Medal for sinking a Japanese freighter during an attack on Palau last April.

His group, a carrier-based torpedo bomber squadron, is credited with sinking 16 ships, damaging 12, shooting down five Japanese planes and destroying 93 on the ground during the last six months of action in the South Pacific.

GAS THEFT

Mrs. C. S. Green reported to the police department that between 5 and 6 a. m., while her car was parked in front of her garage, at her residence on Lincoln street, the tank was drained of gas.

(Ps. 30: 2, 3).

Other Bible citations will include: "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law. But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ," (I Cor. 15: 55-57).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our Master fully and finally demonstrated divine Science in his victory over death and the grave. Jesus' deed was for the enlightenment of men and for the salvation of the whole world from sin, sickness, and death," (p. 45).

It is time for those who took First Aid courses three years ago to take a Refresher Course if they wish to keep their standing as Red Cross-trained First Aid Workers. If the date on your certificate shows that it is three years, or nearly three years old, register at Red Cross Headquarters, Dolores Street near Seventh, for the course to be offered beginning on Monday, October 16. It is a ten hour course to be in charge of Mrs. Ruth Hill Cooke. It will meet at Headquarters on Mondays and Thursdays at 2:00 o'clock for two hour sessions. Anyone who holds a First Aid certificate that needs renewing should take advantage of this opportunity.

Mrs. R. R. Wallace, chairman of Camp and Hospital Service for Carmel Red Cross, is looking for dolls and toys to take to the Ord Village Chapter of Red Cross for use at Christmas with the Village children. At a workshop there the fathers are repairing and painting toys that have been used by children who are no longer interested in them, or who would like to share their good fortune by giving some of their toys for children at the Village. The teen-age girls are ready to dress any dolls that may be given for the younger children. Toys may be left at the Staff Assistance desk at Carmel Red Cross Headquarters. It is important to leave them soon so that there will be time to recondition them.

Your WAR CHEST Dollars

Go Far

The Dollars you give to the War Chest work hard both overseas and at home

Wherever our boys are in service—in training camps, in foreign lands, at sea in battle or convoy duty or in dreary prison camps—they need helpful attention, good music or a chance to see a good show from home. Your War Chest dollars travel far to give them that.

At home, your War Chest is on a fighting front, too. In hospitals and clinics, War Chest dollars battle disease, improve community health. In community centers, nurseries, children's institutions these dollars help prevent child neglect, family crack-ups and juvenile delinquency. Your Chest maintains homes for the aged and supports youth organizations.

During this month of October you will be asked to give to the War Chest in your community. Give more than you now plan. There is a miracle job to be done—make it a miracle by you!

"Remember, Weevils Are Protein," Dr. Dunn Informs Wife, When They Were Japanese Prisoners, Speaker Tells Club

With an earnest, profound plea that Americans never fail to cherish and protect their security and their liberties, while at the same time they seek to understand the peoples of other lands and the systems which make them what they are, Mrs. Dorothy Allen Dunn brought to a close one of the most dramatic and colorful lectures ever presented by the Carmel Woman's Club.

Speaking Monday afternoon, Oct. 2, to an audience which over-taxed the seating capacity of the Girl Scout House, Mrs. Dunn said she had been born in Siberia and had spent most of her life in the Orient. With her doctor husband, her seventy-eight year old mother, sixteen-year old Patricia, and the twins, two-and-a-half years old, Mrs. Dunn was living in Shanghai at the time of Pearl Harbor. Shanghai had been held by the Japanese since 1937, but life for Americans there was not made too difficult until after Pearl Harbor. Of course there were many little restrictions and annoyances, some of them absurd. For instance, clocks throughout the entire "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere," must coincide with official Tokyo time, the idea probably being that the people must understand that the Son of Heaven now controls the sun, moon and stars.

But after Pearl Harbor things became worse. Private automobiles were confiscated, the motors removed, the bodies flattened and shipped to Japan. Mrs. Dunn said she had derived a great deal of satisfaction from learning that the ship carrying what had been their car had been sent to the bottom of the China Sea.

All radios were confiscated, and then the rumors of impending internment multiplied. Finally, early one morning in November, 1943, a very dirty, unpleasant Japanese gendarme came and gave Dr. Dunn ten minutes to get ready. He was taken away, and for two days Mrs. Dunn heard nothing of him. Then she learned he was in a political camp not too far away and she was able to send him some food and to see him. The medical care of the camp was put in charge of Dr. Dunn, and as a result, the Japanese treated him very well "for barbarians."

Four months later Mrs. Dunn, her mother and her children were placed in another concentration camp. They were ordered to take only the barest necessities for living, but by ingenious packing between mattresses, Mrs. Dunn managed to include a Victrola and records, cooking utensils, and even an electric fan which was to help make the stifling heat endurable. They also tucked in an American flag, which the elderly mother insisted on taking so that her grandchildren "should not forget what it looked like."

The family of five was assigned a living space fifteen by sixteen feet in one corner of a room packed with men, women and children. There was one shower for every one hundred women, and one for every fifty men. Everything in the place, the Great China University, was filthy, and there were no cleaning materials. But fortunately, the management and operation of the inside of the camp were left entirely to the Americans, and very soon an organization was set up which functioned efficiently. There were kitchen and baby kitchen squads, garden squads, electrical and carpentry squads, and in particular, a rice-cleaning squad, consisting of thirty women, who spent the afternoons picking dirt out of the rice which could only have been sweepings from a warehouse floor. Also, there were an educational staff and a supervised playground.

To make life bearable under such conditions of congestion and deprivation, routines were established and adhered to, and this, plus the never-ending work, the carrying of water, the scrubbing and scouring, suppression of the insect population, the cooking, washing and care of children, served to keep up morale.

Such news as came in was distorted, and after one heart-breaking experience of being told to pack followed after two days by the Japanese statement "No more packing,—finished," it seemed almost foolish to believe the word Carl Mydans had received via the underground that "the Gripsholm has sailed." But it was true, and finally the great day came, a day of broiling heat, of standing for hours in the sun, of hot indignation when a customs official found Mother's American flag, tore it in pieces, threw it on the ground and stamped on it. But, all unexpectedly, Mrs. Dunn found her husband on the "Teia Maru," and the joy of being re-united made every discomfort seem small. The ship was frightfully over-crowded, the food incredibly bad, but Dr. Dunn counseled them not to be too critical, "Remember, weevils are protein," and they knew the end was not far off.

At Gjoa, on the west coast of India, the Americans were transferred to the Gripsholm, which had brought Japanese repatriates from America. To be in clean quarters with not only necessities, but comforts and luxuries, seemed almost too much to believe, and the warm-hearted hospitality shown them at the several ports they touched made the entire trip joyous and gay. And the sight of New York Harbor and the "Lady with the Lamp" was more than they could bear. Nearly everyone wept unashamedly.

John and Mary Burr Here

Pfc. and Mrs. John Burr arrived Monday for a visit in Carmel during his fifteen day leave from the Marine Corps base in San Diego, where he is a member of the regimental band. Mrs. Burr, one time a ballerina with the San Francisco Opera Company, has been teaching dancing in San Diego. Both residents of Carmel, Pfc. Burr has participated in the musical life of the community, his excellent bass having been heard with appreciation in the Bach Festivals as well as in concert, while Mrs. Burr conducted a dance studio here. She has also, on different occasions, been a member of The Pine Cone advertising department and of the news staff, and for a number of issues her wood cuts and linoleum blocks were regular features of the paper.

Honoring the Aikens

The marriage of Anna Lee Hopkins and Alfred Lawrence Aiken came as a complete surprise to all their friends, who received the wedding announcements on the same day the story of the wedding appeared in The Pine Cone. Mrs. Aiken had previously sent out invitations to a farewell tea, but no one suspected that the trip east which she had announced was to be a wedding trip. The week in Carmel following the wedding was given over to dinners and teas in honor of the bride and groom. Mrs. Aiken, known and beloved as Anna Lee Hopkins, was feted until the day when she and Mr. Aiken left for the east. The large reception on Saturday at Mrs. Aiken's home on La Loma Terrace was an informal affair, given in order that Mr. Aiken might be presented to Mrs. Aiken's Carmel friends.

The week's round of entertaining for the newly married couple began with tea and cocktails on Sunday afternoon at the home of Gen. and Mrs. C. E. Brigham, who included among their guests Admiral and Mrs. Frank Huntington of San Francisco.

On Monday, Mrs. W. H. Hargrave of Pebble Beach gave a delightful tea for Mr. and Mrs. Aiken, Mrs. Willis J. Walker and Mrs. H. D. Higley pouring the coffee, Mrs. Henry Van Dyke and Miss Rowena Beans presiding at the punch bowl. On Tuesday afternoon Col. and Mrs. R. R. Wallace asked about twenty five people in for tea and cocktails, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Aiken and Mrs. John K. Urnston of San Marino, who is a visitor in Carmel. Miss Grace E. Carroll served the tea and coffee and Mrs. J. T. Williams and Miss Flora L. Stewart, were at the punch bowl.

Thursday evening Mrs. Louis Ralston entertained at a farewell dinner party in honor of the bride and groom. The other guests were Gen. and Mrs. H. D. Higley, Gen. and Mrs. C. E. Bingham, Miss Clara Taft, Miss Violet Whitney, and Miss Rowena Beans. On Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Aiken left Carmel for the east. They will make their home in New York City.

they assembled in the station board offices. Gasoline ration applications were sorted out, opened, checked for correctness and then sent to the rooms where teams of women labored mightily. Applications were sorted into piles of fifty, fifty "A" books were then counted out, and applications and books were sent to the rooms where they were filled out, attached to the applications, checked and rechecked and then placed in envelopes for mailing. Mrs. Forbes was on the job daily, supervising the workers, seeing that each team had a supply of applications and that the work moved forward on schedule.

Many devoted volunteers gave freely of their time. Many gave more than one day a week, some of the women being there three, four and five days each week.

"I never knew that so many persons on the peninsula had automobiles," said Mrs. Forbes, in discussing the work. "It was a real job just to open the letters. You see, all the mail arrived in a bunch. It had to be sorted, that for the rent control, and the price rationing division being sorted out and laid aside. Then the gasoline ration applications each had to be studied to see that they had been properly filled out and were in order. In the name of AWVS I want to extend our sincere appreciation to every woman who volunteered for the work. Many were not AWVS members. They came from all over the peninsula. All performed yeoman service and we are deeply thankful." —B. J.

Maj. Geo. Cookson, Capt. John Young, Capt. H. A. Alexander, Lt. J. Andrews, Receive Bronze Star In Pacific Area

The bronze star was awarded to Major George M. Cookson, Captain John J. Young, Captain Harlan A. Alexander and First Lieutenant Jack H. Andrews by their commander, Major General A. V. Arnold of the Seventh Infantry Division, in a ceremony held recently at a Central Pacific Base.

Major George M. Cookson

Major George M. Cookson, whose wife Mrs. Vivienne E. Cookson lives in Carmel, has received his award for heroic service in action against the enemy during the Attu operation. Now in command of a battalion of engineers, Maj. Cookson was a captain of engineers at the time.

By preventing infiltration of the enemy and eliminating all enemy resistance, menacing the rear areas (at Attu) Major Cookson exercised superior control and leadership in neutralizing a hotly contested area.

Despite a painfully frostbitten hand, Maj. Cookson was constantly in the fire-fight with his troops and remained on the front lines until the battle was successfully completed.

During the enemy counter attack, Maj. Cookson personally led an attack up the Northern Sarana Gorge to the top of Cold Mountain on Attu, where the last remnants of Japanese resistance were wiped out.

The citation accompanying the medal concludes: "His determination, aggressiveness and leadership exemplify the finest traditions of the military service and were an inspiration to his men."

Captain John J. Young

Captain John J. Young, whose wife is Lucille M. Young of Carmel, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic service and outstanding leadership in action against the enemy on Attu Island in the Aleutians last year.

Captain Young, who was a First Lieutenant on Attu, was later promoted to Captain and given command of a Company which showed the results of his remarkable leadership in their second action against the enemy at Kwajalein Atoll in the Marshall Islands, by very successful participation in this action.

In addition to the Bronze Star, Captain Young also wears the Purple Heart, Distinguished Unit Citation ribbon, the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre ribbon with two battle stars.

Captain Harlan A. Alexander

Captain Harlan A. Alexander, a battalion surgeon with an Infantry Unit, received the Bronze Star in connection with military operations against the enemy on May 16, 1943, during the battle at Attu Island. After a furious battle, one of the U. S. Infantry companies was forced to withdraw under enemy fire, leaving five casualties which had not yet been evacuated. After the withdrawal, Captain Alexander, with complete disregard for his own safety, three times led a small group of aid men up a mountain, through heavy enemy fire and successfully evacuated the five wounded men.

A veteran of two campaigns in the Pacific war, Captain Alexander participated with the Seventh Infantry Division in driving the Japanese from Kwajalein Island, in the Marshall Island group.

In addition to the Bronze Star, Capt. Alexander wears the Asiatic Pacific Theater Ribbon with two stars. His wife, Mrs. Esther G. Alexander, with his two sons Harlan and David, has her home in Carmel.

First Lieut. Jack H. Andrews

First Lieutenant Jack H. Andrews, whose wife, Joyce, lives in Carmel, was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy during the battle for Kwajalein.

First Lieut. Jack H. Andrews, a machine gun platoon leader, advanced forward of the assaulting company's front lines and placed his machine guns into position, despite sniper fire and artillery shells of the enemy. The leadership and courage shown by Lt. Andrews were important factors in the success of the battle.

A veteran of two campaigns in the Pacific war, Andrews participated with the Seventh Infantry in driving the Japanese from the Aleutian Islands a year ago. Other ribbons and award besides the Bronze Star which Lt. Andrews is authorized, are the American Defense ribbon, the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre ribbon with two stars, and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

City Council And Churches Decide On V-Day Plans

Plans for a dry V-Day in Carmel became official on Wednesday night when City Clerk Peter Mawdsley read a proclamation, prepared by the mayor, asking that all bars and liquor stores close for 24 hours when the word is received that Germany has surrendered.

Official announcement of the event will be by blast of the fire siren, the council decided, delegating Fire Commissioner Frank Helfing to arrange what the code number should be. Immediately, the church bells are to be rung. It was also announced that the three Carmel clergymen, Father Michael O'Connell, Reverend C. J. Hulsewe, and Dr. James E. Crowther had met and determined on the following program for religious observance on V-Day: If news of the surrender comes before eleven o'clock in the morning, services in each of the churches will be held at eleven; if after, services will be held at eight o'clock in the evening.

Other business of the council was the granting of a permit to Francis Whitaker to build a blacksmith shop at Fifth and Junipero Streets; the approval of the appointment of Clayton Neill to the library board to complete the term of the late Paul Prince; granting the street superintendent a "well deserved" vacation; denial of petitions of Kent Daniels and Ernest W. Gien to cut down trees; granting permission to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Beaton to remove two pine trees that are dead.

A letter was read from Mrs. Velona Brewer asking that the council investigate the city drain

The reunion was particularly joyous as Lieut. Littlefield had been reported missing August 13 to September 4. Lt. Littlefield has any good. After the Marines were landed, the transports sailed, leaving the landing boats and their Navy crews on the island to wait until they returned with a load of supplies for the Marines. There were sixty sailors in the group that stayed, living in jungle fox holes with the Marines. "We had rifles—full Marine equipment—and we lived on K rations. The Japs were there in the jungle all around us, firing on us, and yowling at night so we couldn't get any sleep." And there were the air raids, 150 of them in the twenty days they waited for the transports to return. The Japs still had Bougainville for an air base and they came over almost continuously, bombing and strafing. Of the sixty sailors, less than half were alive when the ships came back.

And the boys on that island wondered if those ships would come back—in time, before the Japs arrived in force, because Rose of Tokyo was cheering them up with her radio announcements to the effect that a black alert was on, that the Japs would land reinforcements on the island in such great strength that, "They will wipe you out, you Americans." When the Americans spotted ships on the horizon, they weren't sure for a while if they were the returning transports, or Rose's Japs.

McPherson wasn't in on the taking of Bougainville, but he was there later, on board his transport, when the Japs staged their 120 plane raid. His ship was hit but not crippled, and accounted for fifteen Jap planes.

That is the story of the three small stars, high lights of nineteen months of service abroad a Navy transport. In between the events that rate stars on a campaign ribbon, there were days, weeks and months of routine plying between base and island beach head, carrying supplies and ferrying them ashore, "routine" trips in which encounters with subs and enemy planes were regarded as part of the routine.

McPherson has returned now for more such routine service. This first leave was also his first visit here. When he enlisted in February, 1943, his home was in Niles. It was not until February, 1944, that his parents bought the Dolores Grocery and moved to Carmel.
